Foreword

Our lives, like the leaves on a tree are always changing colors. The color that our lives attain is shown in what we do. Our first year at Holston has indeed been a colorful one. Each student has cherished thoughts of rewards for work well done, of enthusiasm for extra-curricular activities, and of our goal for graduation. But just as leaves and lives change, so do thoughts and memories. We, the Cavalcade Staff, have tried to record a part of our memories of our first year at HOLSTON HIGH SCHOOL in PROFILES IN LEARNING.

With Deep Appreciation

Mr. E. B. Stanley
Superintendent of Public Schools in Washington County

When we began our education twelve years ago, Mr. E. B. Stanley began his invaluable service to Washington County by becoming Superintendent of Public Schools. As we progressed in our education, his untiring efforts were raising the educational standards and opportunities of our county. During his years of dedicated service he has made a very impressive record. Mr. Stanley has worked to replace the one-room and overcrowded combination elementary- high schools with improved elementary centers and new secondary schools. This year, his dream and the dream of many, comes true as we, the class of 1965, become the first graduating class of the newest addition of the four new high schools of Washington County. We are indeed grateful to this outstanding man who has made our future brighter with better educational opportunities.

Mr. Ralph Cox has truly given a year of dedicated service to Holston High School. He has worked for excellence in every endeavor as well as in the everyday activities of the school. His efforts to have Holston High admitted to the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools were successful, and we are proud of both him and the new school for this honor.

Mr. Ralph Cox
Principal

. . . For Dedicated Service

Miss Constance Hart, guidance counselor, Mr. John Roberts, assistant principal, and Mrs. Mary Taylor, cook, are three people who are very important to the students of Holston High School. Although their jobs are quite different in nature, they all work hard with the best interests of students always in mind. They make our life at Holston better and much more enjoyable.

The Education of its People . . .

Part of our dream come true . . .a large sunny room with a wealth of resources for research and pleasure.

As Mr. Stanley speaks at the ground-breaking ceremony, the realization of our dream begins.

These new facilities thrilled both mother and daughter.

To the students who didn't keep up with the progress of our new school, the new surroundings were quite different.

The eagerly awaited day had come. Our first day began with noisy chaos everywhere. But soon, we had new friends, new teachers, and new classes added to the disorder.

Reflects the Profile of a Community

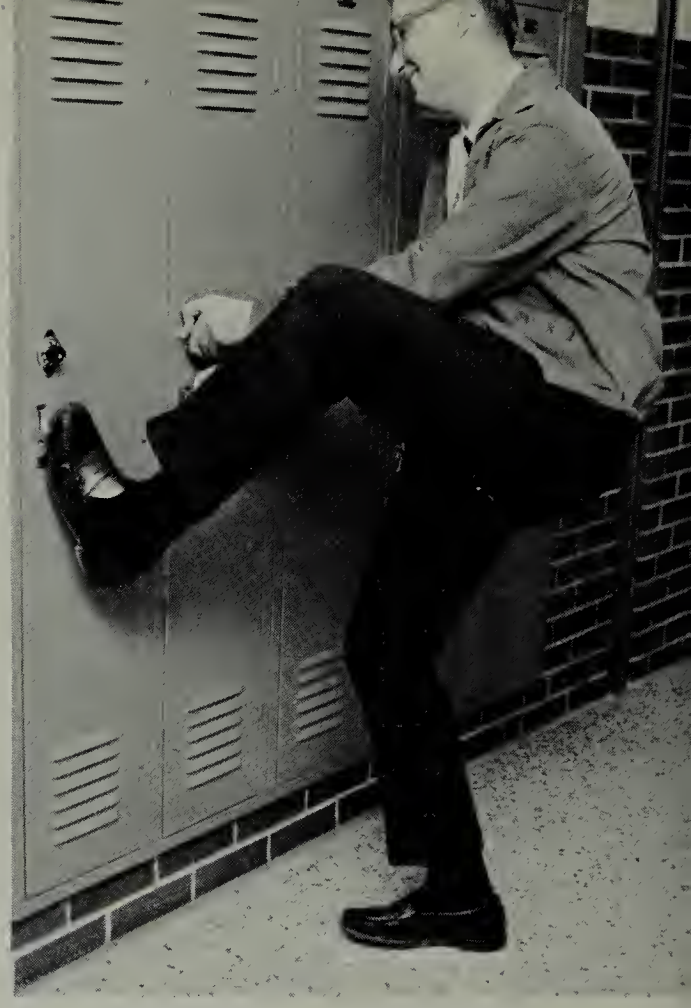
There were many new mechanics to cope with concerning the new school. Even the milk cartons were new. Here Robbie Preston shows Kay Francisco how to open the newly designed milk cartons with ease.



It wasn't easy to master the new combination locks. Here Jimmy Williamson is so anxious to get his books that he is ready to pull that thing right off the wall.

There were Many and Many "Firsts"

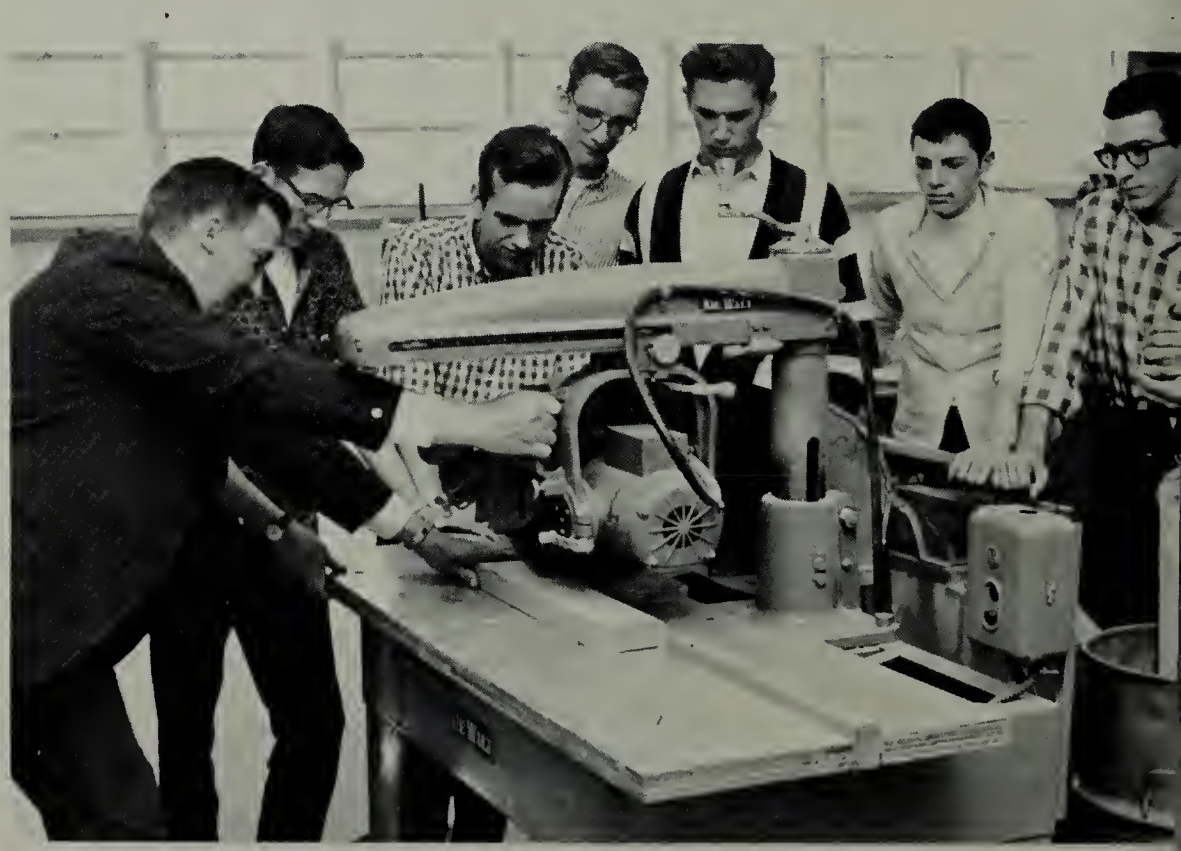
This "Grad hat" symbolizes the many problems seniors had to cope with concerning graduation.



Vocational agriculture was new to some of the boys. Mr. Wells demonstrates how to use the saw while eager boys watch.

These Cavalier cheerleaders were the first to wear the flashy red and white colors of HHS.

H.H.S. Students Balance Work with Play

Work, work, work is what Linda Henderson does on her term paper.

Mrs. Roten helped alleviate the work with the one-act play "Hello Out There."

Here are some of the Junior class cast in a scene from "Take Your Medicine."

The junior and senior classes both presented plays of fine literary quality.

Profiles of a School . . .

Quiet . . .
Frequently a quiet break away from the hustle and bustle is the thing we need most.

Carefree . . .
These years of youth are carefree ones, and we make the most of our social events.

Serious . . .
A morning devotion helps start the day right.

Rowdy . . .
If there's ever a time to be rough and rowdy it's during a football game. Here school spirit and enthusiasm grows.

Relaxed . . .
Our new jukebox created an atmosphere in which students can relax for a few moments from their busy schedules.

There is a Time for Everything

Pleasure . . .

Being football captain does have its better points.

Even Slaves . . .

The teachers join in on the fun.

And the Good Byes . . .

To some, the good byes will be sad; to others, weary of the demanding schedule, they will be glad; but whether sad or glad, it must be said that all will remember with fondness the happy memories of a year at Holston.

Business

Students enrolled in commercial courses combined fast finger work and accurate thinking in order to achieve their speed of sixty words a minute in typing. This year girls served as secretaries to the teachers to receive experience for their future professions. They used their knowledge of shorthand, general business, bookkeeping and typing to type tests, file and type personal letters for teachers. They received typing experience in working on the school paper and were very proud to be first and third place winners in the county typing contest.

Math

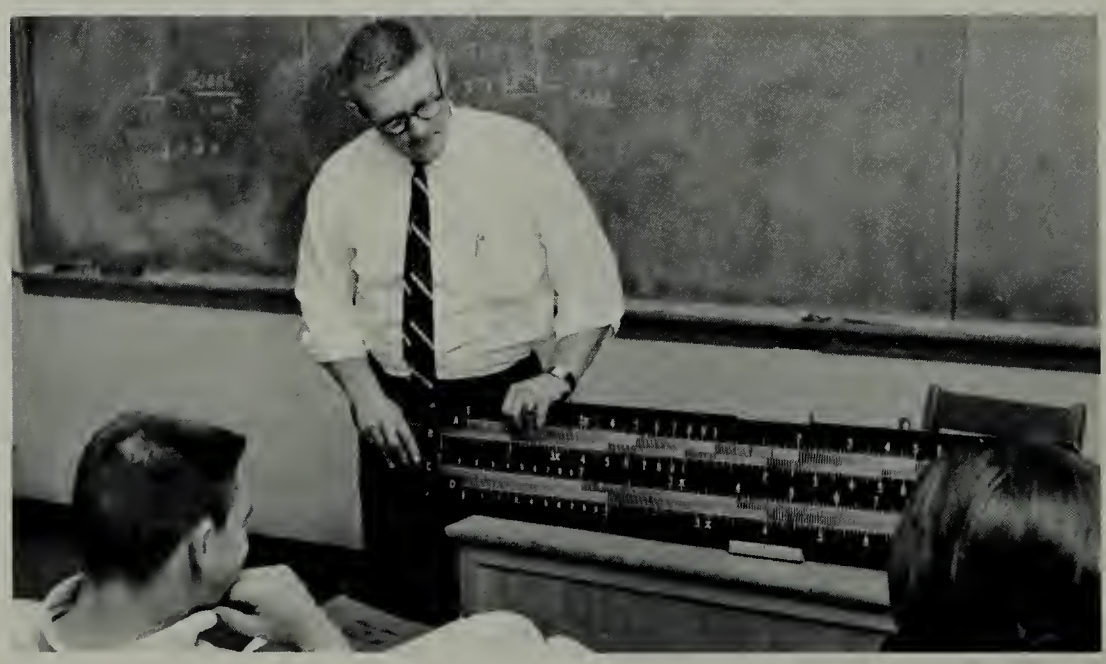
Eighth graders learn that fingers are not much good for determining whether numbers are + or -, and before they know it they're in Algebra trying to find that mysterious "x". The Juniors, meanwhile, are mastering lines, angles, and triangles in Plane Geometry while the Seniors are struggling with slide rules and Physics experiments.



Are Lynn and Gene really concentrating on the slide rule?

Home Economics

For obvious reasons, the one class that nearly every boy at Holston would like to attend is a Home Economics class. But maybe this isn't such a farfetched idea after all, for the Home Economics girls learn many things the boys would profit from. Aside from the cooking and sewing skills, they learn many things such as personal grooming, manners, entertaining, decorating skills, home nursing skills and the management of time and money.

Vocational ## Agricultural

The girls may dominate the Home Ec. department, but the boys have their domain also; and it's found in the Vocational Agricultural Building. Here they learn practical skills and enjoy working with their hands. The boys learn a basic understanding of Animal Science, Farm Mechanics, and Supervised Farming. In their shop work, they may learn such skills as tool fitting, welding and woodworking.

Foreign Language

First year Latin students tackled vocabularies and verb conjugations with enthusiasm. They especially enjoyed seeing Julius Caesar and translating the Latin phrases. Second year French students learned many facts about France through films and tried to improve their pronunciation by listening to tapes and records. One of their biggest projects was translating Jules Verne's AROUND THE WORLD IN EIGHTY DAYS. The members of both classes enjoyed writing to foreign pen pals.

In our world today, there is much emphasis on Science and there is a great demand for Science Majors. At Holston, we learn basic facts about the complex studies of Biology and Chemistry. In the Biology lab, new equipment helps students to understand the complexities of plant and animal life and in the Chemistry lab the students learn respect for Chemists if little else.

Physical Education

To keep the body physically fit is as important as keeping the mind stimulated. The physical education program is designed to stress physical fitness, teamwork, leadership, and sportsmanship. Sore muscles are a common complaint when exercises start but soon everyone "shapes up" and enjoys learning new sports in the gym. Health classes are attended twice a week and folk games are enjoyed by all on co-educational day each Friday.

Social Studies

The Social Studies Department of any school is an important one, for the building of good citizens depends largely on the knowledge that these citizens have of their country and its system of government. Two of our required courses U.S. History and U.S. Government fulfill this need. They give us knowledge of how our country and state were built so that we may be proud and appreciate being an American and a Virginian.

One of the highlights of the year was the Miss Holston Contest. Each participant cherished the dream of becoming Miss Holston High School 1965. The first to receive this honor was Miss Kay Francisco, a lovely senior. Kay was also crowned Miss Washington County in Abingdon, Virginia, during September of this year.

Mr. and Miss Yearbook

The Mr. and Miss Yearbook contest is an annual affair sponsored by the Yearbook Staff. It is held during the subscription sales. Each yearbook subscriber is given the opportunity to vote for any member of the Junior or Senior classes.

Miss Tommie Katherine Wright (Senior) and Mr. Bobby Burchette (Senior), the 1964-65 recipients of the award, are active in school and church activities. Both are members of the Cavalcade Staff.

All the members of the Yearbook Court are acknowledged as being held in high esteem by the rest of the students of Holston. The Court lists a number of students who represent the title they have earned very well.

'Take Your Medicine', 'Pygmalion' Put

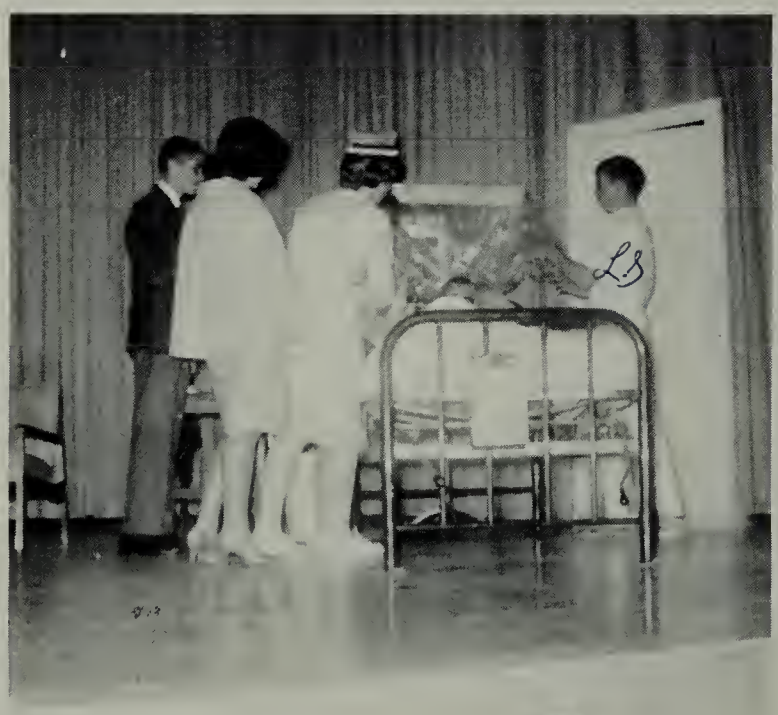
"Ah! There's the flowers I ordered for myself."

Members of the junior class, under the direction of Miss Moody, Mrs. Grindstaff, and Mr. Cline, presented "Take Your Medicine" by Felicia Metcalf. This three act farce portrays typical crotchets of hospital patients in hilariously funny situations.

Mr. Puckett (Sam McCall), and Mr. Dodson (Eddie Faw), the two hospital patients were surrounded by many nurses and orderlies. These persons included Patricia Pry (Donna Shumate), Lottie (Lynn Galliher), Dottie (Wylene Shupe), an orderly (Leonard Smith), Dodie (Cathy Williams); Miss Holt (Joyce Akers). Turtle Dove Finkledink (Linda Finley) was an old maid who was trying to "hook" Mr. Dodson. All of these characters and many more students of the Junior Class indeed created a play that will not soon be forgotten.

"Uncle Henry can't be dying!" (But I hope he is.)



Juniors take curtain call.

Money in Junior, Senior Treasuries

The immortal words of George Bernard Shaw became more meaningful for the Senior class as they worked diligently to produce his classic PYGMALION, under the direction of the Senior sponsors, Mrs. Roten and Mrs. Allen and the student directors, Donna Isenberg and Linda Mock. This project was a challenge, but the experience was rewarding in many ways. The world will always have its Elizas (Tommie K. Wright), its Professor Higgines (Bobby Burchette), its Colonel Pickerings (Jim Farmer), its Alfred Doolittles (Jeff Minton), its Eynsford Hills (Martha Norris, Pat Meadows, and Buddy Snodgrass), its Mrs. Higgines (Joella Johnson), and the other members of the senior class rose to the challenge of portraying Shaw's 1912 classic which has a message for today: We must never be satisfied to be merely what we think others want us to be. Rather, we must rise above the difficult situations of life to become individuals who recognize the false values of society and do our share in ridding the world of hypocrisy.

Many hours were spent in rehearsing for PYGMALION.

Those behind the scenes, who did make-up, costumes, etc., were just as important as the actors themselves.

In the final scene our "guttersnipe" is transformed into a duchess.

A-a-a-a-a-a-ow

Not only Marco Polo visited the Orient but these surprised Seniors who entered a lovely Oriental Garden.

Junior-Senior Prom

"The Virginians" added a musical touch to the Oriental atmosphere.

The hallway with its small tables and candlelight provided a romantic spot for talking.

Visits Oriental Gardens

The Junior-Senior Prom was one of the biggest events of the 1964-65 school year. After working and planning for many hours the juniors finally transferred an Oriental atmosphere to the school. They chose the theme of "Oriental Gardens" which was very beautifully carried out.

As the Seniors arrived, they were surprised to see the hallway converted into a beautiful garden and the cafeteria transformed into an Oriental Tea House. In the Tea House, the Juniors and Seniors danced to the music of the "Virginians", and enjoyed the delicious refreshments.

At twelve o'clock the magic night ended; the girls in their beautiful dresses returned to their homes and the Oriental Gardens became Holston High once more.

Juniors worked very hard to create an Oriental atmosphere.

Beautiful dresses swirled and white coats flashed as Juniors and Seniors waltzed to the music of the "Virginians".

Memories Fade

Oh, those glorious memories of our Senior Year-- being "the upperclassmen" and getting to order the rats around; wearing class rings; producing a senior play, PYGMALION; raising money to paint a cavalier on the wall of the gym; appearing on Klub Kwiz; studying English literature and Government; sitting in first seats, middle section of the auditorium; sponsoring the blood mobile and being old enough to give a pint; registering for the draft; applying for college; attending the Prom; choosing a graduation speaker; ordering invitations; receiving graduation gifts; seeing some of your classmates for the last time and finally - walking across the stage to receive that prized diploma.

These are memories of our year. The memories of the first graduating class of Holston High School. They aren't especially unusual but they are very special to us for we shared happy times as seniors and will remember with pride our last year as high school students.

We will remember those who led us, our parents, our teachers, our senior sponsors, Mrs. Roten, Mr. Price, and Mrs. Allen, Miss Hart who always had a helping hand, and Mr. Cox who kept us in line. We owe all our future success to them and all our happy memories. We will leave these people and our friends to go our separate ways but we will always be bound together by a link of memory.

AUTOGRAPHS

For the seniors of Holston High, a "Profile of Learning" and twelve years of education have ended. This "Profile of Learning" must also end. The Cavalcade staff has recorded a happy year of learning and fun. We hope that in years to come you can look at it and remember the things behind the profile: The happy hours spent in learning, the friendships, the fun, and the happiness of youth that were shared here.

I would like to thank the annual staff for their contributions in making our annual a success and also the business establishments who made our yearbook possible. These people were instrumental in making our book. But one very important person who has been omitted thus far is our advisor, Mrs. Thomason. She worked tirelessly and patiently to help us make this book the very best. We THANK YOU, Mrs. Thomason.

Best of luck
to a sweet and kind
Miss Linda.
May you find all the future
Love, Linda

It has been a real pleasure to go through school with you. Best of luck in the future.
Bradley

Linda has really had a year
like a strange year has been a strange year for all. It has had its downs its upsand its downs.
But all in all it has been wonderful.
Best of luck in the future.
Laura

Linda,
Sure did enjoy going to school with you. Best of luck in the future.
All the Best,
C. Friend,
Jo

Dear Linda,
It has been fun, I'll bet you're glad it's over. It's been a real pleasure to go through school with you. Best of luck in the future.

Linda,
It has been a real pleasure to go through school with you. Best of luck in the future.
Peter

Hey Linda,
One good bit of advice
Stay out of the Passion Pit!
I sure enjoyed my wkend at Rodford & knowing you my Sr. year. Thanks for all the work on the annual
I enjoyed working with you.
Best of luck with the "fellow" from UPI or maybe I should
P.S. Also it follows! Good luck in Everything - J.K. Wright

Hope you have lots of luck at college. Hope you get yourself a V.P.I boy or two. Come back one of these day and see me.

Love
Eddie

Linda,
Best of luck always to a very nice girl.
Mike Rouse

Dear Linda,

It has really been fun to go to school with such a nice sweet girl. May you have the very best of luck at Radford College. Please do not every change your nice sweet smile. Best of luck always.

Love
Jaela

Good luck at Radford to a real sweet girl.

Love,
Kathy

Best of luck in the future to the sweetest girl I've ever know. I think you're great.
